Location: Conference Room at Andel's Hotel Łódź, Ogrodowa 17, Łódź, Polen

The Interdisciplinary Work Group for Ethics of Medicine in Poland and Germany gathers this year in Łódź during the period of 29th to 31st of July. This will be the fourth meeting after conferences in Halle (Saale) in 2012, Frankfurt (Oder) in 2013 and Łódź in 2014. This years conference is going to broach the work of the Polish psychiatrist Antoni Kępiński (1918–1972). Kępińskis research of the so-called KZ-Syndrom and his theory of the mind as an information metabolism are not only of historical matter. They enable new pulses in the discussion on ethical questions in psychiatry. To continue the transnational dialog within the Interdisciplinary Work Group for Ethics of Medicine in Poland and Germany we invited practitioners and theorists from both Poland and Germany to discuss Kępińskis psychiatric models and theories.
