

Tuesday, January 19, 2016, 18.15 pm

Adam-Kuckhoff-Str. 35, SR 2

NARRATIVES ABOUT THE AMERICAN SOUTH

Winfried Fluck is Professor em. of American Studies at the John F. Kennedy Institute for North American Studies of Freie Universität Berlin. He is a founding member of the Institute's graduate school, a member of its executive board, and Co-Director of the Dartmouth Futures of American Studies Institute. Among his most recent book publications are Romance with America? Essays on Culture, Literature, and American Studies (2009), Re-Framing the Transnational Turn in American Studies (2012), and American Studies Today. New Research Agendas (2014).

GUEST LECTURE

Prof. Dr. Winfried Fluck

Professor em. of American Studies at the Freie Universität Berlin